Graduated support and prolonged comfort for less tired legs during travel

GRADUATED COMPRESSION SOCKS FOR TRAVELLING IN GREATER COMFORT

The graduated compression socks from the Go First Collection are designed to provide leg support during travel and periods spent in the same position for a long time. Thanks to the 18-28 mmHg graduated compression, they help counteract the feeling of swelling and fatigue, promoting comfort during journeys. Ideal for airplane, train, and bus travel, they are also a practical solution for those who spend many hours sitting or standing during the day.

18-28 MMHG GRADUATED COMPRESSION FOR LEG SUPPORT

The 18-28 mmHg graduated compression applies differential pressure along the leg, offering targeted support and helping to promote blood circulation. This feature helps reduce the sensation of heaviness and tiredness in the legs, which is especially common during long trips. The FlyLight compression socks are designed to accompany you when movement is limited, providing support during travel and daily activities.

BREATHEABLE FABRIC AND EXTENDED COMFORT FOR ALL-DAY WEAR

Made from a combination of 78% nylon, 15% spandex, and 7% polyester, FlyLight socks offer elasticity and a snug fit. The breathable fabric enhances comfort during prolonged use, while the knee-high design ensures targeted coverage of the lower leg. Available in size S/M, corresponding to EU size 36-41 and a calf circumference of 30-38 cm, they are convenient to wear during travel, transfers, and long days away from home. The black colour with grey details easily matches various outfits.
